The World Cancer Congress serves as a platform for discourse and advocacy as well as a learning and sharing opportunity for our members and partners around the world.

The 2014 theme, Joining Forces - Accelerating Progress, will emphasise the impact that can be realised by consistently and energetically applying what we know, rather than waiting for possible future “breakthroughs” to change the landscape. This will be discussed across a variety of economic and cultural contexts.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- 98% of the 2012 World Cancer Congress participants would recommend the event to a colleague
- Leading international conference with the latest information on global advances in cancer implementation science
- Support UICC's global advocacy campaign to ensure cancer is addressed as part of the global public health and development agenda
- Network and exchange with participants representing the whole spectrum of cancer control experts - from practitioners to advocates
- Strengthen and share knowledge in your area of expertise AND learn about topics of cancer control and global health that will complement your field of work
- Build for the future: meet new partners and welcome tomorrow's leaders
